

all about automation is coming to the Netherlands!

The successful event series all about automation—the premier meeting place for industrial automation, robotics, and digitalization—is coming to the Netherlands. Following successful editions at eleven locations in Germany, Austria and Switzerland, all about automation is now coming to the Evenementenhal Gorinchem on April 21 and 22, 2027.

According to the IFR, the international trade association for robotics, the Netherlands ranks among the top 15 worldwide in robot density in the manufacturing industry. In a country with a strong, resilient industry and clear growth in automation, the time is ripe for a Dutch edition of all about automation.

Who is all about automation for?

- Providers of solutions for industrial automation, robotics, control technology, sensor technology, software, data & IIoT, network, and security technology
- Users from the manufacturing industry, machine builders, system integrators, and technical service providers who want to automate, optimize, or future-proof their processes.

Participating in all about automation Netherlands is easy and effective. The uniform stand design with a personalized eye-catcher ensures a level playing field, where the quality of the conversations and practical solutions take center stage. Stand construction and catering for you and your visitors are included in the price.
